Specimens received 9/6/73

Q1 Bullet

Result of examination:

Specimen Q1 is a caliber .38 cast lead bullet of the type used for reloading. The make of mold in which Q1 was cast could not be identified. Specimen Q1 was fired from a barrel rifled with six lands and grooves, right twist. Although there are insufficient microscopic marks on Q1 for identification with the gun from which it was fired, those rifling characteristics are comparable with those produced by revolvers chambered for the caliber .38 S&W cartridge and made by Eig, Harrington & Richardson and Forehand Arms Company; revolvers (chambered for the caliber .38 Special cartridge) of Taurus (Brazil) manufacture and some revolvers of Spanish manufacture; derringers made in West Germany and chambered for the caliber .38 Special cartridge and caliber .358 Winchester Rifles of Winchester manufacture.

It is possible that Q1 could have been reloaded into any of the above-mentioned caliber types of cartridge cases, but bullets like Q1 are not normally reloaded into caliber .38 S&W and caliber .358 Winchester cartridge cases.

Specimen Q1 is being returned to you under separate cover by registered mail.

CARTER AUGUSTUS CAMP;

[redacted]

CLYDE HOWARD BELLECOURT - VICTIMb6
b7C

On September 6, 1973, [redacted], Attorney at Law, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, telephonically contacted the Sioux Falls Resident Agency of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). [redacted] advised he was acting on behalf of his client Carter Camp. He said that on September 5, 1973, he received information from a Special Agent of the FBI that a threat existed against the life of Camp. He discussed this matter with Camp, who in turn requested [redacted] to arrange an interview with FBI Agents concerning the threat. Camp requested that his attorney be present during the interview.

b7C

On September 6, 1973, Assistant U.S. Attorney [redacted] District of South Dakota, Sioux Falls, was advised of the request of [redacted] said he had no objection to Camp being interviewed in the presence of his attorney concerning the threat on his life.

b7C

On September 6, 1973, Carter Augustus Camp was interviewed at the Minnehaha County Jail in the presence of his attorney by Special Agents of the FBI. Camp was told that positive information had been developed indicating a threat existed against his life and that there was reason to believe proceedings had been instituted to carry out this threat. Attorney [redacted] spoke on behalf of Camp and stated he received information from U.S. Magistrate Jim Wilson, Rapid City, South Dakota, that on Tuesday, September 4, 1973, during Camp's preliminary hearing two vehicles, believed to have Oklahoma license plates, were parked near the Court House. [redacted] said that if this was the basis for the belief that a threat exists against Camp, then both he and Camp feel that there is no real threat. He based his opinion on Camp's belief that any vehicles from Oklahoma were owned by his friends.

CLYDE HOWARD BELLECOURT - VICTIM

Camp said he asked his friends in Oklahoma not to come to the area for four or five days until tempers cooled. [redacted] suggested that if names of suspects were made available, Camp could readily determine if they were "friend or foe". Otherwise no information would be forthcoming from Camp concerning the threat.

Specimens received 9/28/73 under cover of Minneapolis letter 9/24/73
 (PC-K2008 GY)

Also Submitted: Two cartridges

Result of examination:

Test bullets and cartridge cases from the K3 through K6 guns were compared microscopically with all comparable specimens in the Laboratory's National Unidentified Ammunition File, but no identifications were effected.

The Q2 through Q5 specimens, caliber .357 Magnum cartridge cases of Federal manufacture, were identified as having been fired by the K1 revolver.

Specimens Q6 and Q7 are caliber .38 Special cartridge cases of Winchester-Western manufacture. Although specimens Q6 and Q7 were identified as having been fired in one gun, nothing was found to indicate that they were fired by the K1 revolver.

There are some marks remaining on Q6 and Q7 believed to be of value for identification purposes, but the make of gun in which Q6 and Q7 were fired could not be determined.

Specimen K2 consists of two caliber .357 Magnum cartridges of Federal manufacture. The Q2 through Q5 cartridge cases are like those of the K2 cartridge.

Specimens K3 through K6 and all of the "Also Submitted" cartridges are being returned to Minneapolis under separate cover by Air Express. Specimens Q2 through Q7, K1 and K2 are being returned to the Oklahoma City Office under separate cover by Air Express.

DETAILS:

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

September 6, 1973

Date of transcription

At approximately 4:30 p.m. in the snack room of the Baptist Hospital, Special Agent (SA) [redacted] was proceeding to interview one [redacted], a witness to the shooting of CLYDE BELLECOURT, when three Indian males walked into the room, where he was conducting the interview.

b7C

The largest of the Indian males, who said his name was [redacted] and claimed to be head of security for the American Indian Movement (AIM) at the Baptist Hospital, stated that he would not allow the interview to proceed. [redacted] stated that the shooting of BELLECOURT was an internal matter of AIM, and that as head of security, it was his duty to prevent witnesses from being interviewed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) or any other law enforcement agency. SA [redacted] advised [redacted] that it was not up to him whether or not [redacted] could talk with the FBI, but that it was up to [redacted]

b6

SA [redacted] then turned to [redacted], who appeared to be visibly shaken by [redacted] comments, declined to furnish any additional information. This interview was then terminated.

b6
b7C

[redacted] was subsequently contacted and interviewed again on the same date, and furnished a statement to the FBI. This was done, however, in the presence of RUSSELL MEANS, who told [redacted] to give her story to the interviewing Agent.

September 11, 1973

Date of transcription

[redacted] was contacted at the Winner Health Clinic, which is next door to the Baptist Hospital, and he advised that in his opinion CLYDE BELLECOURT was sufficiently recovered from the wound he received on August 27, 1973, to be interviewed by the interviewing Agents.

b6

[redacted] advised that he was not aware of any trouble with any of the American Indian Movement (AIM) security guards who had been placed at the hospital. However, he stated that their mere presence did discourage many people from coming to the hospital, and he was quite concerned about this.

He advised that he would give written consent to the interviewing Agents so that they could interview BELLECOURT, and he proceeded to write this consent on a prescription pad on his desk. He then gave this written consent to SA [redacted]

September 11, 1973

Date of transcription

At about 11:30 a.m., the interviewing Agents presented the note from [redacted] giving written permission for them to interview CLYDE BELLECOURT at the Baptist Hospital in Winner, to the Chief Nurses' Station on the main floor.

b7C

At about the same time, the interviewing Agents were approached by an Indian male, who was the same individual who had attempted to prevent SA [redacted] from interviewing one [redacted] three days earlier. This individual stated that even though the Agents had written permission from [redacted] to interview BELLECOURT, he would not allow BELLECOURT to be interviewed by them. He stated that he was head of the American Indian Movement (AIM) security and had his orders, and under no circumstances would he allow FBI Agents to interview BELLECOURT. SA [redacted] advised [redacted] that he was obstructing justice and that he was doing something for which he could be prosecuted. SA [redacted] told him that he wanted to be sure that he was aware of exactly what he was doing. SA [redacted] then asked the individual what his name was, and he replied [redacted]

b6
b7C

At this time the interviewing Agents left the Head Nurses' Station and walked over to the hospital offices, where they went into the hospital administrator's office in order to use the telephone. It was the interviewing Agents' intention to telephone United States Attorney WILLIAM F. CLAYTON in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, in order to get an opinion from him of the above-described incident. Approximately two minutes had elapsed from the time of the incident until the telephone call. While in the process of making the call, this same [redacted] abruptly entered the administration office and told the interviewing Agents that he had talked with CLYDE BELLECOURT, and BELLECOURT was willing to talk with the FBI.

At this time, both SA's [redacted] then walked down to the hospital room where BELLECOURT was and entered the room. There was approximately seven (7) individuals near or around the door to the room. [redacted] accompanied both Agents into the room. BELLECOURT was laying in the bed and was attended by the head nurse of the Special Care Unit, name unknown. She asked what the Agents wanted, and SA [redacted] presented her with the written consent from [redacted] to interview BELLECOURT. Then SA [redacted] asked BELLECOURT if he would consent to talk for a few minutes with the FBI, and BELLECOURT shook his head and said no.

b7C

The attempt to interview BELLECOURT was then terminated.

The following description of [redacted] was obtained through observation:

CLAYTON, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, he advised that CLAYTON wanted to have an investigative report on the case before making a decision as to the merits of prosecution.

[redacted] Investigator, Criminal Division, Nebraska State Patrol (NSP), advised that on August 27, 1973, at 10:20 a.m., he received a telephone call from JAMES WARD, Sheriff, Cherry County, Valentine, Nebraska, that there had been a shooting on the Rosebud Indian Reservation and possibly the suspects may be headed for [redacted] in Nebraska. He advised this initial contact was to alert him himself. At approximately 11:10 a.m., he received another telephone call from WARD and there was a car involved in a [redacted] chase with the shooting suspects who were reportedly headed south. [redacted] stated he went to Valentine and contacted WARD at his office shortly after noon and WARD told [redacted] that [redacted] him CYDIE BELLECOURT had been shot and there was a hunt on [redacted] for the suspects, who were reportedly in a red Volkswagen [redacted] with California license plates. [redacted] stated he does not know who made this call or know where this information came from involving [redacted] who did the shooting.

[redacted] stated he and the deputies then left Cody and were traveling east on Highway 20 towards Valentine when they received a radio message that the attorneys had arrived in Cody and they wished to see them. He stated they turned around and headed back towards Cody and they received another radio message that the attorneys did not want to see them at this time but they continued on to Cody any way.

[redacted] advised they arrived in Cody and there were [redacted] three other individuals at Cody in a plum-colored Volvo bearing Idaho license plates [redacted] and one of the [redacted] individuals identified himself as [redacted] who claimed [redacted] he was an attorney and had been sent by the United States Attorney's Office to Cody to see that everything was handled properly. [redacted] advised that after this contact he and [redacted] the deputies were conferring and in radio contact with the [redacted] Sheriff's Office at Valentine and inasmuch as the occupants of the Volkswagen had been unable to produce a registration card for the Volkswagen, he, [redacted] sent [redacted] to [redacted] obtain the vehicle identification number on the Volkswagen.

[redacted] advised that [redacted] advised that a considerable period of time transpired while all individuals, including themselves, [redacted] were in Cody and that a mechanic from the Ford Garage in Cody had been hired to repair the Volkswagen and at approximately 3:45 p.m., the Volkswagen headed west on Highway 20 from Cody, accompanied by the Volvo. He stated [redacted] he and the deputies then left Cody towards Valentine. [redacted] advised when they reached Kilgore, Nebraska, they [redacted] decided to check an abandoned Mustang, described as a 1965, car bearing No. 1965 or 1966, bearing South Dakota license [redacted] and explained at this time this Mustang had been reportedly involved in the shooting also and had been observed earlier [redacted] abandoned one-half mile south of the South Dakota state line. The vehicle upon first observation was in apparent running condition with no damage. The owner was supposedly of Mexico [redacted] of Mission, South Dakota. [redacted] stated when [redacted] they checked this Mustang they discovered at this time there were two fresh bullet holes in the windshield, one [redacted] bullet had apparently passed through the windshield and rear window through the rear window and the other bullet had penetrated the padded dash. They had this car towed to Valentine and [redacted] then returned to the Sheriff's Office in Valentine.

[redacted] stated that a short time later [redacted] Deputy [redacted] was sent to a grass fire west of Kilgore and at 5:15 p.m., a [redacted] of Kilgore, Nebraska, called the Sheriff's Office and informed them that they had been driving on Highway 20 and observed a man [redacted] west of Kilgore peeking over the railroad tracks in the direction of the highway. [redacted] stated he dispatched Trooper [redacted] to the area and called Deputy [redacted] on the radio and informed him of the observation of the man and also at this time dispatched an airplane which had earlier been sent to the area of the fire for observation purposes to the area west of Kilgore and shortly thereafter received a radio call from the [redacted] airplane, piloted by [redacted] that two persons had been spotted by the railroad tracks approximately five miles west of Kilgore. [redacted] advised [redacted] and Deputy [redacted] then proceeded to the scene and upon arrival discovered that Deputy Trooper [redacted] and Deputy [redacted] had arrested CARTER [redacted] and [redacted] CAMP and [redacted] who were found hiding in a railroad culvert approximately five miles west of Kilgore. [redacted] advised [redacted] and Deputy [redacted] that no attempts were made to interview either CAMP or [redacted]. Inasmuch as previous arrangements had been made with the United States Marshal's Office in Rapid City, South Dakota that if CAMP was captured he would be transported to the South Dakota state line north of [redacted] to Chadron, Nebraska, Deputy [redacted] proceeded west with [redacted] and he, [redacted] CAMP and [redacted] and he, [redacted] Trooper [redacted] and Deputy [redacted] made a search in the closer area where CAMP was arrested and [redacted] found a duffle bag, which was filled. Trooper [redacted] found a duffle bag, which was filled with fresh food. This duffle bag was obtained as evidence and they returned to Valentine, Nebraska. He stated enroute south to Valentine they met the Volvo approximately eight miles west of Valentine and at this time the Volvo was traveling west and contained two people.

Re. August 29, 1973

[redacted] Chief Deputy, Cherry County Sheriff's Office, Valentine, Nebraska, furnished the following information:

On August 27, 1973, he was en route Merriman, Nebraska, to serve papers and while en route he heard Rosebud, South Dakota, authorities radio Valentine authorities that they wanted Valentine to stop a 1965 or 1966 Mustang, green in color, which was registered to [redacted] as it was wanted in connection with a shooting.

[redacted] advised that at 10:14 a.m. his department's radio dispatcher advised him to meet [redacted], Cherry County Deputy, at Crookston, Nebraska, in reference to the above Mustang. He advised there was a report this vehicle had been seen north of Kilgore, Nebraska, on a county road. [redacted] advised he met [redacted] and both went west to Kilgore and began looking for the Mustang. At 11:02 a.m., he headed north in their respective vehicles out of Kilgore and at 11:05 a.m., three miles north of Kilgore, they stopped to check an abandoned blue 1963 Chevrolet which bore Colorado license [redacted]

He continued that as they were checking this 1963 Chevrolet they observed a reddish-orange Volkswagen Super Sports Beetle bearing California license [redacted] pass them heading south toward Kilgore. The people in this vehicle waived and [redacted] observed that [redacted] was driving this vehicle and CARTER CAMP was sitting in the back seat on the right side of the car. He advised that he also saw another man in the back seat and a woman in the front seat.

[redacted] continued that he and [redacted] got in their respective cars and followed the [redacted] vehicle, this began about 11:08 a.m. They followed the [redacted] vehicle and at the junction of the county road and U.S. Highway 20 at Kilgore, he, [redacted] observed [redacted] in a white over red late model Volkswagen van/bus, bearing Nebraska license [redacted]. He observed the [redacted] vehicle to head east on U.S. Highway 20, and there were two unknown persons accompanying him.

b7C

[redacted] advised he and [redacted] followed the [redacted] vehicle west on Highway 20 and approximately five miles west of Kilgore he passed the [redacted] vehicle and as [redacted] was about to pass the [redacted] vehicle, the [redacted] vehicle blew a left rear tire. [redacted] advised that when passing the vehicle he again noticed four persons in this car, including CARTER CAMP. After the [redacted] vehicle blew a tire, he turned his vehicle around to go back to the [redacted] vehicle; but at 11:15 a.m. he heard Rosebud authorities advise, on the radio, that their units had a car stopped just north of the bridge north of Kilgore and Nebraska authorities were needed. He and [redacted] then immediately proceeded north of Kilgore and as he passed the [redacted] vehicle he noticed all four persons were out of the car and he observed CARTER CAMP looking at the left rear tire.

b7C

[redacted] advised that three miles north of Kilgore they met a South Dakota vehicle which was driven by Captain [redacted] of the Rosebud Bureau of Indian Affairs, who was accompanied by [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised [redacted] that a warrant had been issued for CARTER CAMP for revocation of CAMP's bond. [redacted] said he did not believe any other warrants for any persons had been issued at this time (11:28 a.m.). [redacted] advised that he never did observe any vehicle stopped by a South Dakota unit.

b6

[redacted] continued that he and [redacted] and the South Dakota unit headed south for Kilgore and then proceeded west on U. S. Highway 20. At 11:33 a.m. they arrived where the [redacted] vehicle was parked on the side of the road, approximately five to six miles west of Kilgore on U. S. Highway 20. The vehicle was observed and no one was observed to be in the vicinity. [redacted] then proceeded west on U.S. 20 and the South Dakota unit left the area, presumably returning to South Dakota.

[redacted] said he checked the Nenzil, Nebraska, area for occupants of the car with negative results. [redacted] advised that at Cody, Nebraska, he contacted [redacted] Phillips 66 Service Station, and [redacted] advised that he had just fixed a tire for a Volkswagen, which tire an Indian couple had brought in; and [redacted] stated that someone had given them ride back east.

[redacted] then returned to the area of the [redacted] vehicle and upon arriving at the scene found an unknown man assisting [redacted] in fixing the tire. After the tire was fixed, this unknown person left the area. [redacted] stated that he then talked to [redacted] and the female whom he assumed to be [redacted] and another person whose name is (First Name Unknown). [redacted] said he asked [redacted] where CARTER was and [redacted] stated that he had not seen his brother in two weeks; having last seen him in Oklahoma. [redacted] advised that [redacted] could not start his vehicle and that about this time the [redacted] vehicle returned with two unknown persons still accompanying him and stopped at the [redacted] vehicle.

b7C

On August 29, 1973, [redacted] continued:

b6
b7C

After the [redacted] vehicle approached [redacted] flagged the vehicle down which [redacted] described as a white over rod, late model Volkswagen bus-van with Nebraska license [redacted]. When [redacted] stopped the vehicle he and [redacted] had a brief conversation and then [redacted] pushed the [redacted] vehicle west on U. S. Highway 20 to Cody, Nebraska, where [redacted] parked the vehicle in front of Stotts Lumber Company. The [redacted] vehicle then headed west out of Cody taking U.S. Highway 20.

[redacted] said that he then arrived at the scene and asked [redacted] if he could look through his vehicle and [redacted] responded, "Sure if you've got a search warrant." [redacted] told [redacted] that he had received information that South Dakota authorities had requested the [redacted] vehicle held. [redacted] explained that [redacted]

Criminal Investigator, Nebraska State Patrol, Ainsworth, Nebraska, had radioed him this request based on communication received from South Dakota authorities. [redacted] advised that he and [redacted] stayed at the vehicle while [redacted] the female, and [redacted] walked to a nearby park which was in their view and upon their arrival he observed the female use the public telephone. While these people were in the park, [redacted] arrived at approximately 1:35 p.m. and advised [redacted] that South Dakota authorities had now apparently changed their mind and had no reason to request the [redacted] vehicle held. [redacted] proceeded to the park in their respective vehicles where [redacted] talked to [redacted]. After a brief conversation, [redacted] headed east on U. S. Highway 20 to continue the search for CARTER CAMP.

At approximately 2:54 p.m. [redacted] received a radio message to return to Cody, Nebraska, as [redacted] attorney had arrived and had requested to talk to a law enforcement officer. [redacted] proceeded toward Cody, however, before they arrived he received another message stating that the attorney no longer wanted to talk to law officers. [redacted] advised that they went on to Cody anyway and observed [redacted] still trying to get his car started; with [redacted] were two males and a female and they were driving a plum Volvo, bearing Idaho license [redacted]. One of these males approached [redacted] and stated that he was from the State Attorney's Office in Rapid City and he was defense attorney for [redacted]. [redacted] advised that he now knows this person to be [redacted]. The other male, name unknown, asked [redacted] if he knew someone who would fix the [redacted] vehicle and [redacted] said he would call someone in Cody. [redacted] then called Cody Motors and talked to [redacted] who said he would send someone to fix the car. [redacted] advised that he subsequently observed a mechanic arrive and apparently fix the [redacted] vehicle as it subsequently became operable and the [redacted] car and Volvo headed west on U. S. Highway 20 at approximately 3:30 p.m.

b7C

b6
b7C

Thereafter [redacted] headed east on U.S. Highway 20 and went north of Kilgore where they found a 1957 light green Mustang bearing South Dakota license [redacted]. This vehicle appeared abandoned and ownership papers in the vehicle reflected the owner as [redacted] Mission, South Dakota. [redacted] advised that he had advised his office, via radio, of the arrest and was in turn advised by radio by Sheriff JAMES WARD, Valentine, Nebraska, that he should take CAMP and [redacted] to meet a Federal Marshal and that this Marshal had the radio call letters of 27I and that he would meet the Marshal north of Chadron, Nebraska, on Route 385. [redacted] advised that Reserve Deputy [redacted] accompanied him and they met the Federal Marshal, as described above, and he turned CARTER CAMP and [redacted] over to the Marshal north of Chadron, Nebraska, at approximately 8:09 p.m.

[redacted] advised that he recalled that during one of his conversations with [redacted] or one of his associates that [redacted] stated they intended to go to Chadron, Nebraska, and then go to Denver, Colorado.

The box of .270 shells had the name [redacted] on it. He advised that this ammunition was turned over to an Agent of the FBI whom he understands is assigned Rapid City, South Dakota.

Specimens received 9/6/73

Q1 Bullet

Result of examination:

Specimen Q1 is a caliber .38 cast lead bullet of the type used for reloading. The make of mold in which Q1 was cast could not be identified. Specimen Q1 was fired from a barrel rifled with six lands and grooves, right twist. Although there are insufficient microscopic marks on Q1 for identification with the gun from which it was fired, those rifling characteristics are comparable with those produced by revolvers chambered for the caliber .38 S&W cartridge and made by Eig, Harrington & Richardson and Forehand Arms Company; revolvers (chambered for the caliber .38 Special cartridge) of Taurus (Brazil) manufacture and some revolvers of Spanish manufacture; derringers made in West Germany and chambered for the caliber .38 Special cartridge and caliber .358 Winchester Rifles of Winchester manufacture.

It is possible that Q1 could have been reloaded into any of the above-mentioned caliber types of cartridge cases, but bullets like Q1 are not normally reloaded into caliber .38 S&W and caliber .358 Winchester cartridge cases.

Specimen Q1 is being returned to you under separate cover by registered mail.

On September 13, 1973, a preliminary hearing was held before United States Magistrate DAVID VOLLMER, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, who ruled after hearing evidence that there was probable cause, however, since no one could identify subject CARTER CAMP as the individual named in the complaint, he dismissed the complaint as to CARTER CAMP.

On September 13, 1973, Assistant United States Attorney [redacted] Sioux Falls, South Dakota, advised that this case will be presented to the next Grand Jury as to CARTER CAMP and the other subjects involved.

United States of America, *

v. * for the Northern District

Carter Camp, *
Appellant. *

Submitted: April 16, 1976

Filed: September 2, 1976

Before LAY and WEBSTER, Circuit Judges, and URBOM, District Judge.*

URBOM, District Judge.

The defendant has appealed from a judgment of conviction on Count I of an indictment which reads:

On or about the 11th day of March, 1973, at Wounded Knee, in the District of South Dakota, Carter Camp wilfully, knowingly, and unlawfully resisted, opposed, impeded, intimidated and interfered with Gene W. Graham, a United States Postal Inspector, while the said officer was engaged in the performance of his official duties, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 111 and § 1114.

* The Honorable Warren K. Urbom, Chief Judge, United States District Court for the District of Nebraska, sitting by designation.

ENCLOSURE 70-59868-62

Eight issues have been raised, but six of them were examined and found to be without merit in a codefendant's appeal, United States v. Crow Dog, ____ F.2d ____ (8th Cir., March 31, 1976). Remaining are questions of sufficiency of the indictment and of the evidence.

I. Sufficiency of the Indictment

The statute under which the indictment was returned, 18 U.S.C. § 111, begins:

Whoever forcibly assaults, resists, opposes, impedes, intimidates, or interferes with any person designated in section 1114 . . . (Italics added)

The word "forcibly" was omitted from the indictment, and we conclude that the omission requires a reversal of the conviction.

That the use of force is an essential element of the offense defined in 18 U.S.C. § 111 appears from the wording of the statute itself, and the courts interpreting it have been uniform in so declaring. United States v. Bamberger, 452 F.2d 696 (2d Cir. 1971); United States v. Johnson, 462 F.2d 423 (3d Cir. 1972), cert. denied, 410 U.S. 937 (1973); Long v. United States, 199 F.2d 717 (4th Cir. 1952); United States v. Hightower, 512 F.2d 60 (5th Cir. 1975). See also United States v. Cunningham, 509 F.2d 961 (D.C. Cir. 1975); United States v. Frizzi, 491 F.2d 1231 (1st Cir. 1974).

To be sufficient, an indictment must fairly state all the essential elements of the offense. As stated in the Supreme Court's most recent declaration on the subject, Hamling v. United States, 418 U.S. 87, 117 (1974):

Our prior cases indicate that an indictment is sufficient if it, first, contains the elements of the offense charged and fairly informs a defendant of the charge against him which he must defend, and, second, enables him to plead an acquittal or conviction in bar of future prosecutions for the same offense. Hagner v. United States, 285 U.S. 427 (1932); United States v. DeBrow, 346 U.S. 374 (1953). It is generally sufficient that an indictment set forth the offense in the words of the statute itself, as long as "those words of themselves fully, directly, and expressly, without any uncertainty or ambiguity, set forth all the elements necessary to constitute the offense intended to be punished." United States v. Carll, 105 U.S. 611, 612 (1882).

Omissions which are fatal are those of essential elements "of substance," rather than "of form only." United States v. Carll, supra. In determining whether an essential element has been omitted a court will not insist that any particular word or phrase appear, and the element may be alleged "in any form" which substantially states the element. Hagner v. United States, supra, at 433. Thus this court in United States v. Cacioppo, 517 F.2d 22 (8th Cir. 1975), found that charging that the defendant "well knew" was a substantial equivalent of "knowingly and wilfully."

The element of force in 18 U.S.C. § 111 is plainly of substance and not of form only.

The word "forcibly" does not appear in the indictment, nor does any word with a similar import. The indictment is thus defective, unless it is saved, as the United States urges, by (1) the fact that a bill of particulars in the form of a letter from the prosecutor informed the defendant of the events surrounding the incident which led to the charges against him, (2) the fact that the trial judge correctly instructed the petit jury that force is an essential element of the offense, and (3) the reference in the indictment to the statute, 18 U.S.C. § 111.

If the only office of an indictment were the giving to a defendant of notice of the charge sufficient to enable him to prepare his defense and to be protected from double jeopardy, these factors might be persuasive. See United States v. Denmon, 483 F.2d 1093 (8th Cir. 1973). Beyond notice and double jeopardy, however, is the distinct constitutional right, protected by the Fifth Amendment, that a defendant be tried upon charges found by a grand jury. Ex Parte Bain, 121 U.S. 1 (1887); Stirone v. United States, 361 U.S. 212 (1960). The grand jury did not see or participate in preparing the bill of particulars or the trial court's instructions to the petit jury, so neither the bill of particulars nor the instructions supply assurance that the grand jury charged the defendant with having acted forcibly. See Russell v. United States, 369 U.S. 749, 770 (1962); United States v. Denmon, supra, at 1097. Only the words of the indictment give evidence of whether the grand jury considered and included within the offense charged the essential element of force. A reading of the indictment discloses no hint of force, unless it be from the words "in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 111 and § 1114."

Stating that an act is "in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 111 and § 1114" adds no factual information as to the act itself. It declares the legal basis for claiming that the act is deserving of punishment, but does nothing to describe the act. Stated another way, it is of scant help in deciding whether the grand jury considered force to be an essential element. Even if some shade of factual inference were warranted, it would not reach the standard of Hamling v. United States, supra, that the "words of themselves fully, directly, and expressly without any uncertainty or ambiguity, set forth all the elements necessary to constitute the offense . . ."

This reasoning is consistent with Rule 7 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, which requires both that an indictment "be a plain, concise and definite written statement of the essential facts constituting the offense charged" and that an indictment "state for each count the . . . citation of the statute . . . which the defendant is alleged therein to have violated." The rule's wording makes two requirements--the statement of the essential facts and the citation of the statute. They are separate requirements and not a restatement of one another. If citation of the statute were a statement of the facts, nothing beyond a citation would be necessary. Surely no one could assert persuasively that an indictment that merely charged that a defendant violated a cited statute would suffice as an indictment. Yet there is nothing so distinctive about the essential element of force that affords a rational justification for saying that a citation of the statute constitutes a full, direct statement of that essential element but not of all the others.

This court in United States v. Denmon, supra, at 1097, said:

. . . The major constitutional reason why the indictment was defective in this case is the Fifth Amendment's requirement that the defendant has the right to be tried upon charges found by a grand jury. . . . We cannot say that the grand jury would have returned a true bill against the defendant if the essential element of a criminal intent would have been included in the indictment. . . .

This case is substantially like the Denmon case. It is true that in Denmon the court did not discuss the question of whether the citation of the statute supplied the missing element, presumably because the argument was not made. We are unable to conclude, however, that that one factor, if it had been called to the court's attention, would have worked a contrary result.

The sufficiency of the indictment in the present case was not challenged until this appeal. This is permissible, because the indictment omitted an essential element, whereby it became "so defective that by no reasonable construction can it be said to charge the offense" for which the defendant was convicted. Muench v. United States, 96 F.2d 332, 335 (8th Cir. 1938); United States v. Ivers, 512 F.2d 121 (8th Cir. 1975). See also Harris v. United States, 104 F.2d 41 (8th Cir. 1939).

II. Sufficiency of the Evidence

Because of the reversal for insufficiency of the indictment, no extensive discussion of the evidence is necessary. We nevertheless have examined the evidence in detail and find that it amply supports a conviction as an aider and abettor. There was evidence of a forcible interference with postal inspectors, including Gene W. Graham, by persons other than the defendant, and evidence of the defendant's having wilfully and knowingly associated himself with a criminal venture, of his having participated in it as something he wished to bring about, and by his acts having sought to make it succeed. That is enough. Pigman v. United States, 407 F.2d 237 (8th Cir. 1969).

Briefly, the evidence was that the postal inspectors approached Wounded Knee, South Dakota, and were stopped at a roadblock by armed persons, were ordered from their car, were told to raise their hands or they would be shot, and were taken into Wounded Knee, where they were told that they were prisoners of war. This shows that they were forcibly resisted, opposed, impeded, intimidated and interfered with. The defendant, according to the evidence, appeared on the scene at Wounded Knee, directed that the postal inspectors line up in single file, informed them that they were being released because the F.B.I. had told him that if they were not released the F.B.I. would come in and take them, and told the postal inspectors that they should not talk with anyone and that they were in the same status as before. Thereafter, others placed the inspectors in the back of a pickup and transported them to a point south of Wounded Knee where they were ordered to stand with their hands over their heads. The defendant's involvement in the crime by one or more affirmative acts was demonstrated.

In summary, we find no error except that the indictment was insufficient. For this reason, the conviction must be reversed.

A true copy.

DETAILS:

Investigation in this case was instituted upon receipt of a complaint telephonically furnished to SA [redacted] by [redacted] Farmers State Bank, Winner, South Dakota, on August 15, 1973. [redacted] advised that on August 13, 1973, at about 2:30 PM, [redacted] TED MEANS and one other unidentified Indian male came into the bank and demanded to cash a $1,500 check. [redacted] stated that this check had come through the mail and had arrived at the bank on the same date. [redacted] told the MEANS brothers that he could not cash the check unless it was for collection only, since neither of them had an account at the bank. The three Indian males then left and a short time thereafter, five Indian males returned, including the above three. All five of the Indians then proceeded to enter into an argument with [redacted] using abusive language and threats. [redacted] advised that at no time did any of the Indians directly threaten to do anybody any harm. After a short while, [redacted] and one of the other Indians left and [redacted] told the remaining three, "we'll go get some help, you stay here." A short time later, about 18 Indians came into the bank and then shortly after that, about 14 or 15 more arrived. [redacted] stated that many of the Indians were wearing knives and many of them appeared to be intoxicated. He did not observe any other types of weapons.

[redacted] stated that he finally decided to cash the check since he feared that violence might take place if he did not.
He stated that before he cashed the check, he called the First National Bank of Scarsdale, New York, which is the bank the check was drawn on to find out if there was enough money in the account to cover the check. He stated they told him that there was enough money at that time in the the check was due to the explosive situation and in order to avoid an ugly confrontation.

[REDACTED] Farmers State Bank, Mission, South Dakota, was interviewed and he stated that on August 13, 1973, he was in his office at 2:30 PM when three Indian males, [REDACTED] TED MEANS and another unidentified Indian, came into the bank. When [redacted] was going to make a call to New York to verify the amount in the account from which the check was drawn, the unidentified Indian who first came into the bank stated "You don't have to call on that check, just get out to the cash drawer and cash it." DETAILS:

This investigation was predicated on May 21, 1971, on receipt of information from United States Marshal HARRY D. BERGLUND, Minneapolis, Minnesota, that sixteen Indians, who were illegally occupying and trespassing on the United States Naval Air Station, Fort Snelling, Minnesota, were evicted and arrested by a team of United States Marshals. BERGLUND advised Deputy United States Marshals [REDACTED] were injured while making arrests.

[redacted] Deputy United States Marshal, assigned to United States District Court Offices, Third and Constitution Avenue, Washington, D.C., resides at [redacted]

[redacted] arrived in Minneapolis during the early morning hours of May 21, 1971. At about 5:15 A.M., on May 21, 1971, Marshal [redacted] through the loud speaker public address system, announced to the protestors at the United States Naval Air Station to voluntarily leave the Base or they would be arrested. At about 6:15 A.M., the Special Task Force of United States Marshals entered the theater building in which the Indians had been housed. During the period the Indians were permitted to leave the Base, two carloads of about ten women and children voluntarily left the Base. It was necessary to enter the building through the front door by force. They were unable to locate anyone in the building initially; however, subsequently it was determined that the protestors were behind locked doors in a projection booth in the upper level of the theater. The arresting officers obtained a fire ax and chopped the lock and the door mechanism on the door to the projection booth, but were unable to gain entry in view of the fact that a large projector had been blocked and jammed the door.

[redacted] removed a masonite panel on a wall adjacent to the projection room and he and others were able to gain entrance to a small storage room adjacent to the projection room. [redacted] and about five or six other Marshals rammed the door to the projection booth from the small adjacent storage room and it was [redacted] belief that he was probably the first person to enter the room. After several of the officers, including himself, landed in the room the door was temporarily shut. He recalls the protestors swinging baseball bats and that he was immediately thrown to the floor as a result of his sudden burst into the room. It was rather dark in the projection room at the time and about all that he could recall was that Deputy Marshal [redacted] fell on top of him and he observed an Indian in an orange shirt beating [redacted] with a baseball bat.

b6
b7C

[redacted] subsequently arrested this Indian and had his photograph taken with him. He described him as in his twenties, having long hair, and build rather stocky.

b6

[redacted] was not injured principally in view of the fact that he was lying under [redacted] during the main period of attack. Other Marshals he recalled being in the area at the time were [redacted]. [redacted] was the only Marshal whom he actually saw being assaulted. Although [redacted] removed the baseball bat from the Indian who attacked [redacted] he could not positively identify the particular baseball bat that was used. He however indicated that he would be able to positively identify the person who did attack and assault [redacted].

[redacted] Hallandale, Florida, was interviewed at Minneapolis,
 Minnesota and furnished the following information:

[redacted] arrived in Minneapolis, Minnesota, about 2:15 A.M., May 21, 1971 and proceeded directly to the United States Marshal's Office in the United States Courthouse, Minneapolis, for a meeting. At about 4:00 A.M., May 21, 1971, he left the United States Courthouse with other Deputy United States Marshals for the United States Naval Air Station where they arrived at a building just next to the Base Theater at approximately 4:45 A.M.

At this time [redacted] with the group entered the building and held a conference with a group of Indians who were known to be inside the theater building. At this time he advised them they would be given until 6:00 A.M., May 21, 1971, to leave the premises otherwise they would be arrested. At about 5:20 A.M., [redacted] observed six women and children leave the building and depart in two automobiles.

At approximately 6:05 A.M., May 21, 1971, [redacted] and other Deputy United States Marshals forced entrance to the theater building through a door just to the left of the front door. As they entered the building they discovered there were no lights available and that there were people on the third floor. Further, that very possibly the Indians had barricaded themselves in the main projection room. Investigation disclosed that there were very heavy doors on the projection room and nearly impossible to enter this room. However, they discovered a storage room which appeared to join the projection room and that this room had walls of a celotex-type material. [redacted] and Deputy [redacted] as well as other Deputy United States Marshals, were able to chop a small hole in this wall and enter the storage room. From this area [redacted] was the first Deputy to enter the projection room. Although it was very dark he estimated there were at least ten to twelve Indian men in the projection room. They immediately attacked him with baseball bats, two inch by two inch clubs and other type clubs. At this time he realized that he had laid his club on the floor outside the storage room when he was breaking through the celotex wall and neglected to pick up the club when he entered the room. Therefore, he was unable to protect himself against the Indians' weapons, except with his hands.

b7C

[redacted] exhibited a badly bruised and swollen right arm, as well as a black and blue lump on the left side of his forehead. He said he was also struck several times about the neck, shoulders, and he felt he may possibly have a cracked or injured rib in the right rib cage in addition to the fact he is swollen and encounters pain in most of the upper part of his body. He said he has no idea of the number of times he was struck or the weapons used in addition to the baseball bats and two inch by two inch clubs as it was dark. He also was not acquainted with the Indians and due to the darkness it would be difficult to identify the Indians who were beating on him. He recalled he was the first Deputy to enter the project room and he estimated that at least six or eight Indians came at him with the clubs. He recalled that one Indian, who struck him several times, was wearing a reddish orange pullover sweater and a green Army fatigue jacket.

[redacted] said Deputy [redacted] was right behind him; however, he was very busy defending himself in the dark and did not see [redacted] struck, the persons who struck him or the number of times he was struck. In fact, he did not realize that [redacted] was severely injured until the fight was over.

As soon as they were able to open the doors of the projection booth, approximately ten Deputy United States Marshals entered the room. At this time the Indians said "we give up." They then submitted to arrest.

[redacted] advised he was photographed with one of the Indians arrested and he is positive the Indian he was photographed with is one of those in the room with a club. However, he is not certain whether this man struck him or Deputy [redacted]

[redacted] Deputy United States Marshal, Denver, Colorado, stated he participated in the arrest of several individuals at the United States Naval Air Station, Minneapolis, Minnesota, during the early morning hours on May 21, 1971. He stated he was one of about thirty United States Marshals who surrounded Building 11, United States Naval Air Station, at about 5:15 A.M., on that date. After the persons inside the building had been asked, by use of megaphone, to voluntarily leave the building and they had refused to do so, several of the Marshals entered the building and began a search for the individuals inside. After searching the third floor level they were unable to enter a room through a fireproof door. They then entered an adjacent room through a panelled wall at the stairway. After entering this room, they had to enter the room where the individuals were hiding.

[redacted] later observed this object to have been a baseball bat, one of several such objects in possession of the individuals who had hidden in this room. Immediately after [redacted] was hit, [redacted] blocked, with his hand, a blow from another of the individuals in the room. He grabbed this individual and handcuffed him.

[redacted] This squad and two other squads were in position in the vicinity of the theater at the United States Naval Air Station, Minneapolis, Minnesota, at about 4:45 A.M., May 21, 1971 and at about 5:10 A.M., the local United States Marshal announced over a loud speaker that they were United States Marshals, that those occupying the theater would have to leave and if they left voluntarily there would be no arrests. The Marshals also announced that if they refused to leave they would be arrested for trespassing.

At this time a number of women and children left the air station and the squads waited for an additional thirty-five or forty minutes. At about 5:45 A.M., two squads of about eleven men each entered the theater building to clear it and one squad remained on the outside. The two squads inside the theater searched for about fifteen minutes without locating anyone.

At about 6:00 A.M., a locked door was located to the projection booth. [redacted] banged on the door, announced they were United States Marshals and instructed those inside the room to come out or the door would be forced open. His request was met with shouts from inside the projection room of "The Indians are rising again," other slogans, war hoops and shouting. The lock was then chopped from the door but the door still would not open. [redacted] then decided to chop through the wall and as the plasterboard was removed another door was found. When this door was exposed, an attempt was made by Deputies [redacted] to force it open and those on the inside held it shut. At this time several more deputies pushed on the door and as they entered the room, which was in darkness, they were met by a roomful of club swinging Indians. Deputy [redacted] lost his helmet as he entered the projection booth and was hit by a male Indian wielding a baseball bat. [redacted] grabbed the man who hit [redacted] and with the assistance of Deputy [redacted] they forced this man to the floor, removed the bat from his hand, and cuffed his hands with flexcuffs. [redacted] observed this individual to hit Deputy [redacted] in addition to [redacted]. [redacted] described this individual as a male Indian in his twenties. [redacted] did not know this individual's name; however, he was photographed with him as a means of identification.

[redacted] also observed a second Indian swinging a club at the Marshals and this was also a male in his twenties. This man was subdued by Deputies [redacted]

Additionally, [redacted] was photographed with five to eight Indians who were removed from the projection room and were observed by him to have bats or clubs and to be beating on the Marshals as they entered the projection booth, these included males and females.

The projection room was about ten feet by twenty feet, occupied by twenty-five to thirty Indians and by the time they were subdued there were about thirty Deputy Marshals in this room.
